CHICAGO, July 15-2 A. M .- The limits of he fire are as follows: On Clark street, No. 535, which is about Twelfth street on the south, and about Polk street on the north. On Dearborn street the southern limit is near Twelith street, and the northern limit residences. Polk street. On Wabash avenue, Harmon court forms the southern boundary, the northern limit being between Jackson and Van Buren streets. On State street, the southern limit is Harmon court; the line extending on the north nearly to Jackson street. Third and Fourth avenues are burned nearly their whole length. The fire burned a number of bouses on Michigan avenue, but has not damaged that street to any great extent. Some twenty blocks are burned altogether. The loss is variously estimated, but cannot be given with accuracy. It will not be less than $4,000,000, and probably not over $6,000,000. This is covered by about twotifths insurance, which is divided among numerous companies. Since the great fire, companies have been very careful not to take arge risks in one locality. The following are the largest losses: The Jewish synagogue, $30,000; Quinn's chapel, $15,000; the Adelphi theatre, $75,000; St. James Hotel and furniture, $150,000; the post-effice, $50,000; First Baptist church, $100,000; church of the Messiah, $25,000; Olivet Baptist church (colored), $10,000.

A number of serious casualties are re ported, and doubtless several lives are lost in the flames. The tire now is completely under control, and no further anxiety is felt for property on the north side of the city.

REMOVAL OF THE MAILS. The mails were all removed to the substation on the corner of west Washington and Halstead streets. Between Eldridge court and Harrison street, on the east side of Wabash avenue, some dozen handsome buildings were destroyed. Mr. Scammon bet all be was worth after the fire of 1871 that the business quarter of Chicago would readjust itself at the corner of Harrison and Wabash streets. He lost his bet. His stores have stood vacant ever since they were erected. They were sold The Saratoga Regatta-Preparing for under a mortgage a few weeks ago, and the flames have now furnished the solution of Mr. Scammon's schemes. The loss of life has been small. Several firemen were killed. A small number of ance concerning the Freshman race. and to which its ravages have been mainly confined, was very thickly populated. The centre of the negro population has been swept out of existence; the streets in the new-burned district are very narrow, The number of the unhoused is much less, however, than in the previous fire. As a general rule the losses are light, as the most damage occurred in districts where the fates of the Board companies were very high in consequence of the inflammable character of the buildings.

WHAT THE NEW YORK TIMES SAYS. In any other city but Chicago the fire of yesterday would be ranked as one of the first magnitude. But compared with the awful catastrophe of October, 1871, the configrahalf a mile long and four blocks wide, is a disaster of trifling importance. Any map showing the burnt district of Chicago exhibits at the southeast corner of that great red patch some fifty or sixty squares in the neighborhood of Lake Park that the fire failed to touch; though the flames had swept to the very margin of the take immediately to the north, and bad cro-sed the river to the west of it. Yesterday's fire will do little more than fill in this square notch on the map of the old burnt district. Had the wind been blowing from instead of toward the lake, the ruin worked by this fire would very probably have exceeded that of its predecessor of three years Another Fire in Chicago.
